through School Libraries Enhancing Students' Life Skills

Theme:

August 26-20, 2013 BALI - INDONESIA

IASL 2013 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

PROGRAM BOOK
ABSTRACTS
general responsibilities of the school library program's staff, including the development of the school library's collection and the provision of instructional services. The school library must be well-stocked with a variety of books, periodicals, and other resources to support the educational needs of the school community. The development of the school library's collection is an ongoing process that requires constant evaluation and updating to ensure that it meets the needs of the students and teachers. The school library must also provide a comfortable and inviting space where students can engage in independent reading and research. The school library's staff must be knowledgeable about the latest trends in library science and technology and be able to provide students with the skills they need to use these resources effectively. The school library must also work closely with teachers to integrate library skills and resources into the curriculum. This integration of library skills and resources into the curriculum helps students to develop a lifelong love of reading and learning. The school library must also provide a variety of extracurricular activities, such as book clubs and writing workshops, to engage students and promote a love of reading and learning. The school library is an important resource for the school community, and its success depends on the commitment and expertise of its staff.